In 1897, he married Constance Plumer McCalmont of Franklin, Pennsylvania, and a few years later, Mr. Humphrey, with his father and brothers, Alfred H. Humphrey and Fred J. Humphrey, founded the Humphrey Gas Water Heater Company, which became one of the leading manufacturing concerns of Kalamazoo, Michigan.

In 1900, Mr. Humphrey began the very successful manufacture of automatic water heaters based on his own inventions, patented, of automatic valves and other devices. He had become owner of the company, his brothers entering other manufacturing fields.

In 1913, the company was consolidated with the Ruud Manufacturing Company and until his retirement in July, 1942, he was vice president of the Ruud Manufacturing Company and general manager of the Humphrey division. He was retained as a director of both institutions after his retirement from active management.

Mr. Humphrey was an officer and director of many Kalamazoo industrial plants during his active years, including the Kalamazoo Loose-Leaf Binder Company, Kalamazoo Railway Supply Company and the Standard Paper Company.

In 1929, while traveling through East Africa, he suffered an attack of malignant malaria, and for two months was hospitalized in Cairo, Egypt. Soom after his return home he resigned all responsibilities excepting the vice presidency of the Ruud Manufacturing Company.

was the last surviving member of that directorate.

Mr. Humphrey was exceptionally devoted to his family and his friends, and among those whom he held dear were the men who actually made the heaters in the factory, where in early years he worked with them.

Golf being his favorite hobby, Mr. Humphrey was for nine years one of the organizers of the Kalamazoo Country Club, where he had helped to lay out the original nine holes, and the Gull Lake Country Club, where he was chairman of the grounds committee for fifteen years. He personally financed and directed the development of the second nine holes and the sprinkling system at the Gull Lake Country Club.

Death came to Mr. Humphrey at noon on Saturday, November 14, 1942, after a lingering illness. With him at the end were his wife, who was his constant companion throughout his long illness, and his two daughters, Mrs. Richard Windisch, of Scarsdale,
New York, and Mrs. David B. Gauss, of Kalamazoo, Michigan. Besides these he was survived by five grandchildren: Humphrey, John McCalmont and Charles

GEORGE LINCOLN IRVINE

George Lincoln Irvine, youngest son of a pioneer family of Illnois, was born near Byron, December 17, 1863. The family moved to Rockford, when George was five years old, and his boyhood was spent there.

At the age of nineteen, Mr. Irvine went to Sioux Falls, South Dakota, where he engaged in the lumber business for four years. Returning to Rockford, Illinois, he became the president and general manager of the Rockford Overalls Manufacturing Company.

In 1891, Mr. Irvine was united in marriage to Miss Harriet M. Swain. One son was born to this union.

Due to ill-health, Mr. Irvine was obliged, in 1909, to give up active participation in business for several years.

In August 1914, he brought his family to Kalamazoo, and bought the Bartlett Label Company, from which he built up the present Saniwax Paper Company. He became its president and general manager, and continued in that capacity until his death on January 11, 1934.

Mr. Irvine's business success was due, not only to his executive ability, but also to his honesty, industry, patience, integrity, and unfailing courtesy.

The son, Stuart Irvine, has succeeded his father as president and general manager of the Saniwax Paper Company. He and his mother survive, at the time of this writing, 1935.

The following tribute was paid to Mr. Irvine by his pastor, the Reverend John Wirt Dunning, D.D.:

"The life of George Irvine was one of surpassing outward grace and usefullness. The many years that he lived in this community have brought forth a multitude of living expressions of a great soul.

Many waters fed the springs from which this outward grace flowed. There was above all goodness. He was "a good man;" not in the sense in which this term is so lightly used. Honor and honesty and a sense of duty, were his master passion. They builded in him a high integrity.

His sense of right knew also the softening touch of LOVE. His heartiness was as instinctive as his honesty. He was what George B. Shaw has defined as a gentleman: "He put more into life than he took out!"

Personal Characteristics

Henry William Johnson was five feet ten and one-half inches tall, slender in build and had brown hair and blue eyes.

He liked water sports and was an expert swimmer and skater. He liked to read and spent many happy hours with his books. He was industrious and was especially interested in his work with the Upjohn Company.

He provided as well as any young man could for his lovely wife and bright little son. He enjoyed visiting with his friends of whom he had hosts and he was popular with the friends of his father and mother.

Henry was a baptized member of The Bethany Reformed Church and was reared in a Christian home by his affectionate parents to whom he was devoted.

He was fastidious in his personal appearance and dressed with care. He was even more careful of his inner adornment of an untarnished spirit of honesty and sincerity.

He was tender hearted and when he went into the army he remarked to his wife that he would probably be killed for it would be hard for him to kill anyone. Yet he was trained to be a scout, one of the most dangerous services in war.

Henry William Johnson courageously performed his duty in the Second World War and never complained to his wife of the hardships, the cold, the hunger and the fatigue. To him and to the others who laid down their lives so gallantly we offer humble thanks and pray that we may as gallantly serve our country and the world.

The following stanzas were written by

Mrs. Henry Johnson on the first anniversary of his death:

"Midst the battle's roar In a land far away God whispered to you, 'Come home today.'

'Lay down your arms
And take my hand
Come with me
To a peaceful land.'

The noise grew faint,
The light fell dim.
And you found sweet rest
As you followed Him.

You left behind A broken heart. Too soon, it seems, We had to part.

But God knows best It was His will And in our hearts We love you still.

We love you still And always will.

Robert C. Juday had been a student in the Comstock Public School. He loved and was beloved by all. He unselfish and sunny disposition won him friends instantly; but his deep and abiding faith in the eternal goodness of God amazed his elders and entranced his younger friends. He was often heard to repeat the Lord's prayer and the Twenty-Third Psalm. Almost his last words and oft-repeated were, "I will be with Jesus when I die." To him no day seemed complete without his favorite daily morning radio devotion period. His favorite hymn was, "In The Garden."

Death came to him because of pneumonia November 20, 1940. The funeral was conducted by the pastor, Reverend A. T. Halsted, and burial was on a mound, which had been selected by Robert himself, in the Comstock cemetery. On the marker are these words, "Love one another as I have loved you."

GOD HEARS PRAYER

If radio's slim fingers can pluck a melody
From night, and toss it over a continent
or sea;
If the petalled white notes of a violin
Are blown across the mountains or the city's din;
If songs, like crimson roses, are culled from thin blue air Why should mortals wonder if God hears prayer?
- Ethel Romig Tuller

I know not by what methods rare,
But this I know - God answers prayer.
I know not when he sends the word
That tells us fervent prayer is heard.
I know it cometh soon or late;
Therefore we need to pray and wait.
I know not if the blessing sought
Will come in just the guise I thought;

Then shall the Pastor say: Let us pray in unison

Almighty God, unto whom all hearts are open, all desires known, and from whom no secrets are hid, cleanse the thoughts of our hearts by the inspiration of Thy Holy Spirit, that we may perfectly love Thee, and worthily magnify Thy Holy Name, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Presentation of the Chimes by Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Juday.

Acceptance on behalf of the Church by Mr. John Agnew, Lay Leader.

Then shall the Minister say these words of dedication, all the people standing and uniting in the responses:

Minister: In the Name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit, we dedicate these Chimes to the praise of Almighty God.

People: Praise God in His Sanctuary: Praise Him in the firmament of His power: Praise Him with the sound of the trumpet: Praise Him with psaltery and harp.

Minister: We dedicate these Chimes to the inspiration and love of fine music, to the greater appreciation of the great hymns of the Church, and to the development in this community of the language of praise which belongeth both to earth and to Heaven.

People: Praise Him with stringed instruments and with Chimes. Let everything that hath breath praise the Lord. Praise ye the Lord.

Minister: We dedicate these Chimes to the call to worship and to Prayer, to thanksgiving on festal occasions, and to such inspiration in the service of praise that all people may praise the Lord.

People: O sing unto the Lord a new song: sing unto the Lord all the earth, in Psalms and Hymns and Spiritual Songs, singing and making melody in your heart unto the Lord.

People: O sing unto the Lord a new song: sing unto the Lord all the earth, in Psalms and Hymne and Spiritual Songs, singing and making melody in your heart unto the Lord.

Minister: We dedicate these Chimes to the healing of life's discords and the revealing of the hidden soul of harmony; to the lifting of the oppressed and the comforting of the sorrowing; to the humbling of the heart and the lifting of the soul to abiding beauty and joy
by the Gospel of infinite love and good will.

People: That at the Name of Jesus every knee should bow, of things in Heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth; and that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord to the glory of God the Father.

Let us pray:
Our God and Father, whom the generations have worshipped with concord of sweet sound, be pleased to accept these Chimes as a song of praise unto Thee.

People: Amen.

Grant that their music may come as a blessed benediction upon all who worship here.

People: Amen.

May these Chimes become undying music in our community as their notes of cheer, comfort, communion, and courage are modulated into human lives for daily task and noble service.

Anthem by the choir.

Offertory.

His Pastor's Tribute: The Reverend A. T. Halsted spoke in part as follows:

"Robert Juday, in whose memory these beautiful chimes are affectionately dedicated, loves Christ and His Church, I believe, more than any other thing in his life. I speak in the present tense, for with the whole heart I believe that he lives. While he was with us here in the Church Militant he did all that he could to serve his Master in this Church. Fred W. Kanley was born on a farm near Ann Arbor, Michigan, January 12, 1868, the son of John Kanley. His early education consisted of a thorough grounding in the science and mechanics of farming, and in several winters in the available rural school near his home. It was due to his farm knowledge, however, that he obtained his first job in Kalamazoo, but his native ability which his schooling had stimulated enabled him to capitalize on his opportunities in the city.

Mr. Kennedy was born in Sturgis, Michigan, in 1870, and received his elementary education in the Sturgis public schools. He then attended the University of Michigan, where he took a science course receiving his degree from that institution.

He entered business in Kalamazoo soon after his graduation from the University, becoming proprietor of the Kennedy drug store which was located in West Michigan Avenue, just west of the old Burdick Hotel. He remained in the drug business until 1910, when he was appointed by Charles H. Farrell, then mayor, to the office of sity assessor. This office he held until December 15, 1924, when he resigned to enter into the banking business.

Although he had not anticipated an active part in the municipal affairs of Kalamazoo after his retirement from the assessor's office, he was "drafted" quite unexpectedly as a member of the city commission on January 24, 1927. The city commission at that time appointed him as commissioner and vice-mayor, to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Clarence A. Bradford. On November 8, 1927, he was elected a city commissioner and vice-mayor. His election as mayor came June 26, 1928, upon the death of Dr. Ernest Balch, who was then mayor. He served in this capacity until November 11, 1928, when he again retired from active public life. Although entreated by his many friends to continue in active municipal endeavor, Mr. Kennedy insisted that he retire to confine his

Mr. Kennedy, during his public and private business activity in Kalamazoo, was known for his honesty and integrity and his sincerity. As mayor of Kalamazoo he never refused audience to any citizen, and devoted most of his time in the interests of the public he represented. Many of his principles of sound municipal government are in effect at the present time, and to his memory rests the credit of originating and enacting numerous local ordinances.

As city assessor Mr. Kennedy became a student of real and personal values which proved of great value to the City of Kalamazoo. His assessments over the 13-year period showed a consistent increase in value and reflected the progress which Kalamazoo steadily made during the pre-war and postwar periods.

Mr. Kennedy was known for his courtesy as presiding officer of Kalamazoo's city commission. He seldom engaged in heated controversy with persons and groups desiring to influence the commission, but rather would give his own time and that of the commission to a thorough discussion of all problems, pro and con arguments in such a manner that the commission might act justly.
